About Me

Backend developer with over a year of experience using the OutSystems platform to deliver robust backend logic, APIs, and business processes. I’ve mentored citizen developers, collaborated across agile teams, and contributed to the improvement of existing applications. Currently transitioning toward a Project Manager or Scrum Master role, I am actively pursuing industry-recognized certifications (e.g., PSM I, CAPM) to complement my technical background with project leadership expertise. Passionate about bridging technical execution with clear planning, communication, and team alignment.

Career Objective

Aiming to transition from a backend development role to a Project Manager/Scrum Master position. I seek to leverage my strong technical background, mentoring experience, and understanding of agile practices to lead high-impact projects and facilitate effective team collaboration.
